I have a strong commitment to sustainability, promoting our diverse communities and respecting nature. It will be an honour to support Friends of the Earth critical role as champion for our environment in Scotland.

My support will primarily encompass the business acumen I have been privileged to develop after many years of working internationally in various fields, including Educational technologies, Professional services and research, Governance, Management of processes and people, Ethical Compliance, Risk management, Business development and Membership Sales.

I'm an active listener, collaborative and intentional about inclusion and diversity.

Speaking several languages and with experience of living and working in several countries helps me to be open-minded and try to understand different perspectives and approaches, which will be beneficial for connections to overseas organisations and colleagues in Friends of the Earth internationally.
